Dear Paul,

Persuant to your letter of the 30th, I have asked for all relevant material.

I have gone a bit further, because it is not likely the response will include what is still withheld. I am instituting a separate search through several sources where it is possible there may be a record of such documents.

When I receive the documents that will be provided, I will let you know if there are records of any not provided. What you sent should be more then enough to cover all costs. Thanks.

If I neglect to make any suggestions at the time I send this material, let me now offer the opinion that it is within the realm of possibility that there may be ways open to you to get them. I would imagine there are, for the most if not all, duplicate copies not too far from you, where you just may know some of the people.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
